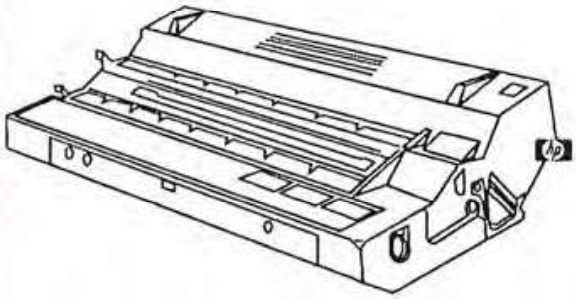
Don't print 'til you see the whites of our I's.

Documents printed using HP LaserJet toner cartridges look good no matter how close you look.



HEWLETT PACKARD

Rich, black toner can make your documents look great. As long as it stays where it belongs–away from places that are supposed to be white. Like margins. The middle of e's and a's. Or the space between the stem and dot of an i.

When you use HP LaserJet toner cartridges you get black blacks and white whites. No compromises. Because everything that goes into the cartridge, from the toner formula to the quality components, is designed to work specifically with your HP LaserJet printer to give you the best print quality possible.

TARGET CENTER

Originally conceived as a way for Timberwolves owners Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson to make an important contribution back to the Upper Midwest, Target Center, with a basketball capacity of 19,006, has fulfilled that ambition while also becoming the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district.

In addition to serving as the home court for the Timberwolves, Target Center plays host to a diverse group of sports and entertainment events. Included among the wide range of events held at Target Center in its first three years are: NHL Hockey, the 1992 Davis Cup semifinals, Billy Joel, Sesame Street Live, Walt Disney's World on Ice, Neil Diamond, the Harlem Globetrotters, First Banks Cup Tennis, the 1991 United States National Figure Skating Championships, Guns 'N Roses, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, the Tier II State High School Hockey Tournament, Elton John, Bruce Springsteen, U2 and many more events. The 1994 NBA All-Star Weekend and the 1995 NCAA Women's Basketball Final Four are some of the events scheduled to come to Target Center.

Target Center events take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility features a world-class health club, a full service restaurant, $3.00 event parking in garages across the street, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and the highest restroom-to-patron ratio in the industry. The building also offers excellent sightlines, handicapped accessibility, comfortable, theater-style seats and complete access through the skyway system parking ramps.

Target Center Facts

- The first major arena in the country designated completely 'no smoking.'
- Located in the heart of downtown, only two blocks from the center of the thriving Minneapolis business district.
- More than 11,000 parking spaces surround Target Center within a three-block radius.
- The lobby occupies 11,000 square feet and can accommodate approximately 2,000 people.
- There are 15 ticket windows to ensure prompt service.
- The lobby ceiling is a gigantic neon sculpture with intricate and spontaneous patterns continually changing.
- 19,006 theater-style cushioned seats provide the viewer with maximum comfort; for center-staged events, there is seating capacity for more than 20,000. Each seat has approximately one to two more inches of hip and leg room than traditional arena seats.
- More restroom accommodations than any other arena in the country. Target Center averages one unit for every 45 customers, with 60 percent of the restroom facilities designated for women; most arenas average one unit for every 172 customers.
- There are 114 wheelchair locations in the upper and lower levels. Amplified listening devices to assist the hearing-impaired are available by calling the Target Center box office in advance. A Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) phone number to the box office has been designated, and coin-operated telephones with amplified listening devices are positioned throughout the arena. Special printed programs will be transcribed in Braille for several sporting events and entertainment events.
- The arena has the only movable floor in the country which includes ice-making capabilities. The floor can be raised or lowered five feet in 25 minutes to ensure excellent viewing and tailored sightlines for each event.
- A special 12-ft. by 16-ft. four-sided, center-hung, color video display provides the viewer a high resolution, close-up view of the event - and replays - from any seat in the house.
- The Arena Health Club at Target Center is the 13th in the chain of Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs located throughout the Twin Cities. The club is approximately 160,000 square feet. Center court of the Target Center floor is approximately two stories directly over racquetball court number 4 in the Arena Health Club.

TIMBERWOLVES PHILOSOPHY

The Minnesota Timberwolves are excited about the opportunity to bring NBA entertainment to the Twin Cities and are dedicated to building a franchise in which all of Minnesota can take pride. The goals for the organization are:

* To earn the respect and support of Minnesota and make a positive impact on the Upper Midwest's quality of life.

* To provide top-quality service at all times.

* To create an atmosphere of excitement, action and entertainment at every Timberwolves game.

* To establish a long-term commitment to quality, both on and off the court.

* To have a state-of-the-art environment for professional basketball with a world-class arena.

To the Timberwolves, quality and service are more than promises. They are a way of life. To you, the members of the media, we appreciate the opportunity to accommodate your needs as you cover the Timberwolves and the NBA.

From 1960 until the mid-1980s, Minnesota basketball fans could only dream of seeing NBA action at a local arena. But by 1989 the dream had become reality, thanks in large part to Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson.

The association of Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson goes back to their Minneapolis grade school days. The two friends have been business partners for more than 42 years. While their business accomplishments include the largest family-owned apartment group in the Upper Midwest and a highly successful health club chain, the duo are best known in the Upper Midwest as the men who brought basketball back to Minnesota. And that suits them just fine.

MARV WOLFENSON

OWNER

The two Minneapolis businessmen saw NBA basketball as an opportunity to give something back to their community. An NBA attendance record in the team's first season and continued fan sup-port are evidence that Ratner and Wolfenson have indeed given something significant not only to Minneapolis, but to the entire Upper Midwest. The pair also helped to revitalize downtown Minneapolis with the opening of Target Center three years ago.

In 1952, Ratner and Wolfenson went into the real estate business and over the years approximately 3,000 apartment units have been built and operated by the pair. In 1969 they launched their first tennis and exercise facility in Richfield, MN. Twelve more clubs, known as Northwest Racquet, Swim and Health Clubs, have opened. The clubs average 170,000 square feet and have an active membership of more than 110,000 with approximately 1,000 employees. They are the most successful facilities of their type in the country.

The style of Ratner and Wolfenson is to be actively involved in all of their business ventures, while relying on and supporting key staff members. That support is evidenced by the fact that many employees have worked for them throughout their adult lives. Loyalty to each other is important to the long-time friends. They have been equal partners in every business venture they began since 1952. They have never undertaken an unsuccessful project.

HARVEY RATNER

OWNER

Although they prefer to avoid personal recognition, they've contributed to many Twin Cities charities. They support the Crisis Nursery Center, Groves Learning Center, Minneapolis Children's Medical Center, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship and the Minneapolis Federation. As supporters of the arts, Ratner and Wolfenson donated the building of the Mixed Blood Theatre and contribute to the Walker Arts Center, Minnesota Orchestra, Minneapolis Institute of Arts and the Fine Arts Department of the University of Minnesota. They have also sponsored the men's and women's tennis teams at the University of Minnesota and provide the Northwest Racquet Clubs as the teams' home court facilities.

Harvey and Barbara Ratner have four children - Mark, Edward, David and Rachel. Marv and Sandy Wolfenson have three children - Ellyn Stein, Ernie and David.

BOB STEIN

PRESIDENT

The growth of a franchise is dependent upon dedicated, versatile leadership. As the first and only president of the Minnesota Timberwolves, Bob Stein displays these qualities while handling a wide range of responsibilities. Besides being responsible for the club's day-to-day operations, Stein also handles contract negotiations, and works with the coaching and player personnel staff on player personnel decisions. In addition, Stein is also president of Target Center and of the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation. Along with the Timberwolves' owners, Stein is on the NBA Board of Governors.

In his role as the principal representative of owners Harvey Ratner and Marv Wolfenson, Stein was instrumental in helping to bring the NBA back to Minnesota after a 29-year absence. Shortly after the franchise was awarded to Minnesota in April of 1987, Stein was rewarded for his efforts by being named as the team's president. His work during the franchise's early years were recognized as he tied for fourth in The Sporting News balloting for the 1990 NBA Executive of the Year.

The association of Stein and Minnesota sports goes back to the 1960s when Stein played football at the University of Minnesota. As a defensive end for the Gophers, Stein earned All-American and Academic All-American honors in 1967 and 1968. He also was a three-time selection on both the All-Big Ten team and the Big Ten All-Academic squad. He graduated from Minnesota in 1969 with a bachelor's degree in political science.

Following graduation, Stein was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs. He helped the Chiefs defeat the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IV, and he remains the youngest man (21) to play in a Super Bowl. While a member of the Chiefs, Stein attended the University of Missouri Law School on a full-time basis, graduating in the top 10 percent of his class in 1973. He began practicing law part-time in 1974 and devoting full time to the profession in 1976 following his retirement from the NFL after eight seasons. During his legal career, much of Stein's practice was in the professional sports area, where he represented dozens of top professional athletes.

Stein remains active in many civic and charitable organizations in the Twin Cities area, including serving on the boards of the Children's Cancer Research Fund and Minneapolis Downtown Council, and has volunteered many years of service to University of Minnesota projects. Stein and his wife, Ellyn, have four children - Lauren, Brooke, Carly and Ben. They make their home in Edina, Minn.

JACK McCLOSKEY

GENERAL MANAGER

Building a winning franchise requires a basketball person with the experience and moxie to make the necessary moves. Jack McCloskey is such a person. As general manager of the Timberwolves, his duties include authority over all basketball-related aspects of the organization including coaching, player personnel, scouting and trades.

Since being named as the first-ever general manager of the Minnesota Timberwolves on June 1, 1992, McCloskey quickly established a blueprint for success. The drafting of Christian Laettner and Isaiah Rider and trades for Chuck Person, Micheal Williams and future draft picks provide the Timberwolves with a solid foundation for the future.

McCloskey's background reveals a man ideally suited to complete the construction of a championship team. For 13 years prior to coming to Minnesota, McCloskey was general manager for the Detroit Pistons. Through the NBA draft and trades, he helped to build the Pistons into two-time NBA World Champions. Known throughout the NBA as "Trader Jack", McCloskey, 67, has the ability to make a trade that provides an immediate contribution to the team. In 1988-89, his acquisition of Mark Aguirre added to this reputation, as the Pistons finished with a 45-8 record after acquiring Aguirre and won their first World Championship. McCloskey's drafting of Isiah Thomas, Dennis Rodman, Joe Dumars and John Salley, combined with 43 trades in his 13 years at Detroit, have contributed to his reputation as an astute judge of talent. As the Pistons' general manager, McCloskey compiled a .544 (580-486) regular season winning percentage, and a .628 (71-42) NBA Playoff winning percentage.

McCloskey joined the Pistons as general manager on December 11, 1979. At the time of his arrival, Managing Partner William Davidson called McCloskey's addition "a positive step in the building of our franchise to an NBA Championship level." Since that statement, the Pistons won two World Championships, three Eastern Conference titles and three Central Division crowns. Throughout his career at Detroit, McCloskey was frequently mentioned among the top Executives of the Year in the NBA.

A native of Mahoney City, Pa., McCloskey came to the Pistons after serving as an assistant coach with the Indiana Pacers during the 1979-80 season. Previously, he assisted Jerry West, now the general manager of the Los Angeles Lakers, for three seasons. McCloskey, a 1948 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, has 23 years of playing and coaching experience. He was an all-around athlete, participating in basketball and football at Penn. He then played eight years in the American and Eastern Basketball League, twice earning Eastern League MVP honors. His athletic career also included a brief stint in the NBA and four years of professional baseball in the Philadelphia organization.

After a successful high school coaching career, McCloskey returned to Penn in 1956 for ten seasons, compiling a 146-105 record. Before moving to the NBA, he compiled a 56-50 record at Wake Forest. In 1972-73, he took over the expansion Portland Trail Blazers for two seasons.

Jack and his wife Leslie make their home in Minneapolis. A top senior tennis player, Jack has won several tournaments. In 1991, he was a gold medalist in the Senior Olympics for 3-on-3-basketball. Jack was a 1981 inductee into the Jerry Wolman Chapter of the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame.

SIDNEY LOWE

HEAD COACH

To those familiar with Sidney Lowe, the title is a natural. From the time he donned a jersey as a high school star at DeMatha High School in Maryland, through his stellar career at North Carolina State, and on into his steady six-year professional career, Sidney Lowe seemed destined to be a head coach. Even the fact that Lowe has reached such heights in a relatively short time span surprises few basketball insiders. Lowe has always displayed leadership ability and a great basketball mind.

These attributes led the Minnesota Timberwolves to name Lowe as their interim head coach on January 11, 1993. The appointment completed Lowe's climb from player to television analyst to assistant coach and scout to head coach. The youngest head coach in the NBA, Lowe, 33, led the Timberwolves to a 15-40 record. The Timberwolves rewarded Lowe's accomplishments by removing the "interim" label on March 24, 1993. This season Lowe will get a fresh start to improve on last year's 19-63 club. With the new year comes an opportunity for Lowe to instill his coaching philosophy and build for the future.

Lowe joined the Timberwolves coaching staff as an assistant coach prior to the 1991-92 season. His duties included serving as a bench coach as well as advance scout. In 1990-91, Lowe served as an expert analyst on the Timberwolves Television Network.

The former North Carolina State basketball star played with the inaugural Timberwolves squad in 1989-90. He competed in 80 games with Minnesota, averaging 2.3 points, 4.2 assists and 2.0 rebounds. Lowe played in seven professional seasons, including 14 games with the Charlotte Hornets in 1988-89. He played extensively in other NBA seasons - including 78 games with Indiana in 1983-84 and 21 games in 1984-85 (15 with Atlanta, 6 with Detroit). Lowe also played three seasons in the CBA, leading his teams to two CBA titles.

As a collegian, Lowe was named to the 1983 Final Four All-Tournament team as he helped the Wolfpack to the NCAA title. He averaged 11.3 points and a school-record 7.5 assists that season, earning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors. He is second on the school's all-time list in assists (762) and steals (220). Lowe also helped lead the United States to the gold medal in the 1981 World University Games.

Lowe, his wife, Melanie, and son Sidney, Jr., make their home in Eden Prairie, MN.

JIM BREWER

ASSISTANT COACH/ASST. TO THE G.M.

Wrapping up his second full season as the Timberwolves' Assistant Coach/Assistant to the General Manager, Jim Brewer has been a part of the NBA for over 16 seasons. Brewer first joined the Wolves as a scout in November of 1989 and was promoted to the position of Director of Player Personnel in December of 1990. On July 18, 1991, Brewer took on added responsibilities as an assistant coach. He plays an integral role in all the Wolves' personnel decisions, including overseeing all the team's scouting efforts.

Prior to joining the Wolves, the 40-year-old native of Maywood, Ill. spent three seasons as an assistant basketball coach and recruiter at Northwestern University. His 12-year NBA career included stints with the Cleveland Cavaliers, Portland Trail Blazers and Los Angeles Lakers, who he helped lead to an NBA title in 1981-82. He was twice selected to the NBA's All-Defensive team while with the Cavs.

1973 graduate of the University of Minnesota, Brewer earned All-America and All-Big Ten honors while helping lead the Gophers to a second place finish in the Big Ten during his senior season. Brewer also played a major role in the University of MInnesota's 1972 Big Ten title, the Gophers' first outright men's basketball championship in 53 years. Brewer also was a member of the 1972 United States Olympic Basketball Team.

Brewer and his wife Patsy, along with their children James and Phera, make their home in Plymouth, MN.

BOB WEINHAUER

ASSISTANT COACH

Looking to add experience to the Minnesota coaching staff led the Timberwolves management to bring Bob Weinhauer into the organization as an assistant coach. He will serve as a bench assistant to Head Coach Sidney Lowe.

Weinhauer, 54, brings a wealth of NBA experience to the Timberwolves. Prior to this season, he was an assistant coach with the Atlanta Hawks for two seasons. Weinhauer also spent three years with the Philadelphia 76ers' organization. From 1988-90, he was the team's player personnel director/assistant coach, and during the 1990-91 season, Weinhauer served as assistant general manager to then-GM Gene Shue.

Weinhauer had a successful collegiate coaching career at the University of Pennsylvania and Arizona State University, where he posted an overall record of 143-90 (.588) in eight years. He led the Pennsylvania Quakers to the 1979 Final Four, the last such appearance by an Ivy League school. Weinhauer also guided the Detroit Spirit to the CBA Playoffs in 1985-86. He also served as a scout for the 76ers, Clippers and Bullets. Weinhauer has five children and resides in Minneapolis.

CHUCK DAVISSON

ASSISTANT COACH

Chuck Davisson enters his fifth season in the NBA and his third with the Timberwolves. With the Timberwolves his duties include serving as a bench coach to Sidney Lowe for every game, coaching the guards, and advance scouting and game preparation of opponents.

At 30 years old, Davisson remains one of the youngest coaches in the NBA yet has already coached 10 years at every level of basketball. Rapidly moving through the coaching ranks, Davisson began coaching at his alma mater, Cedar Rapids Washington, before going to the college level at the University of Washington. Davisson also coached at Youngstown State with current Bulls assistant Jim Cleamons before entering the NBA. He came to the Timberwolves from the San Antonio Spurs where he served as an advance scout.

Davisson has also worked for Bertka Views, a nationally respected scouting service with many prominent graduates including Atlanta Hawks President Pete Babcock and Los Angeles Lakers head coach Randy Pfund.

During the offseason Davisson coached the Timberwolves summer team and spoke at camps and clinics throughout the U.S. and abroad.

Davisson graduated from the University of Iowa in 1985 with a B.A. in economics. While coaching, he continued his education with two post-graduate degrees. He earned an M.A. in finance and an M.B.A. both from the University of Iowa.

HISTORY

1992-93 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (4-7) The Timberwolves started the new season with six new faces in the lineup, and while taking some time to adjust to each other on the court, Minnesota was able to win four of its 11 November games. After dropping their first two games against Boston and Golden State, the Timberwolves came back to defeat Dallas 118-104 on Nov. 10 and, two days later, New Jersey 88-84 on the road for the first time ever. Chuck Person, acquired over the summer from Indiana, led the Timberwolves in scoring (20.0 ppg) and rebounding (8.5 rpg) for the month. Rookie Christian Laettner got his NBA career off to a good start by averaging 19.5 ppg and 8.1 rpg, both second on the club. Minnesota also got offensive support from Doug West, who averaged 17.5 ppg, and Micheal Williams, who averaged 15.7 ppg and a team-high 8.2 apg after arriving from Indiana with Person. Thurl Bailey extended his consecutive games played streak to 433 and he set a team record for consecutive free throws with 33.

DECEMBER (1-12, 5-19 overall) It was a long December for the Timberwolves, as they played nine clubs with records above the .500 mark, and could only manage to pick up one victory during the month's 13 games. Minnesota's win came at the tail end of five-game Western swing, 111-88 over the Dallas Mavericks. The other four stops on the trip, Utah, Seattle, the L.A. Lakers and Houston, all resulted in losses for the Timberwolves. One game that the Timberwolves didn't win, but nevertheless played well and battled to the finish, was a 124-119 double-overtime loss to Boston at the Target Center on Dec. 15, in front of a national television audience on TNT. Rookie Christian Laettner scored a career-high 35 points in the loss to the Celtics. That was one of three overtime losses for the Timberwolves in December; the Others being a 122-116 loss at Golden State on Dec. 19, and a 102-96 home loss to Sacramento on Dec. 23. Doug West was Minnesota's leading scorer, averaging 18.8 ppg, and that included a career-high 39 points in the loss to the Warriros. Laettner was the club leader in rebounding, with 8.3 rpg, and Micheal Williams registered a team-high 8.8 apg.

JANUARY (3-11, 8-30) Facing a January schedule that included seven games against teams with winning records, the Timberwolves struggled, winning just three of 14 games. Minnesota took on a new direction on Jan. 11 when Jimmy Rodgers was replaced as head coach by Sidney Lowe, who at 33 became the youngest head man in the league. Lowe had been serving as an assistant under Rodgers. All three of the Timberwolves' wins for the month came at the Target Center, as they defeated Midwest Division foes Dallas (103-71 on Jan. 2) and Denver (99-89 on Jan. 15), and Central Division opponent Milwaukee (91-82 on Jan. 30) to close out the month. One near miss came against the Pacific Division-leading Phoenix Suns, who shaded Minnesota 117-116 in OT at Target Center on Jan. 27. Doug West led the team in scoring (19.7 ppg), Christian Laettner was tops in rebounding (8.6 rpg), and Micheal Williams added 9.9 apg.

FEBRUARY (5-8, 13-38) Although the Timberwolves were unable to post a winning record during the month, the team's five wins in 13 games was the second-best February mark in team history, trailing only the 6-7 mark in February, 1990. Three of Minnesota's wins came on the road, including the Wolves' first-ever win at Market Square Arena in Indiana (102-100 on Feb. 12); the first win at the Memorial Coliseum in Portland in three seasons (104-91); and 112-105 at The Summit in Houston on Feb. 5. In a 121-114 win over Sacramento at the Target Center on Feb. 18, the Timberwolves sank a club-record 40 free throws, including an individual single-game team record of 18 by rookie Christian Laettner. Since Sidney Lowe took over as coach, Minnesota had gone 7-15 through the end of the month, with nine of the 15 losses coming by single-digit margins. Three big offensive contributors for the Timberwolves included Doug West (18.6 ppg), Laettner (18.4 ppg) and Micheal Williams (18.3 ppg).

MARCH (5-13, 18-51) The Timberwolves showed signs of becoming a good basketball team at the close of March, putting together a three-game winning streak-the longest streak of the 1992-93 season-to raise their victory total to five for the month. During the three-game winning streak Minnesota defeated Houston, 101-100 at the Target Center on March 28; Golden State, 103-100 at the Oakland Coliseum on March 30; and the L.A. Lakers, 126-113 at the Great Western Forum on March 31. That marked the first time that the Timberwolves had won on the road against the Warriors and Lakers. Another home highlight was a 106-105 win over the Spurs on March 6, as Christian Laettner (19.3 ppg, team-high 10.7 rpg) converted a three-point play with 1.4 seconds left. Doug West was club leader in scoring, with 20.1 ppg and Chuck Person added 17.4 ppg. Micheal Williams had a team-high 8.9 apg. Sidney Lowe was elevated from interim to head coach on March 24, becoming the NBA's youngest coach at 33.

APRIL (1-12, 19-63) The Wolves endured a 12-game losing streak to open April, the second-longest winless stretch in club history, before salvaging a 113-111 win over Utah in the season finale. The month's highlight was Micheal Williams breaking Calvin Murphy's 12-year-old NBA record for consecutive free throws made (78). Williams hit all 10 of his chances against Utah to end the season with 84 free throws in a row, a streak which started March 24 vs. San Antonio. Christian Laettner set a new club single-season rebounding mark with 708 (8.7 rpg), and Chuck Person established a franchise record by hitting 118 three-point field goals. Doug West finished the season strongly, averaging 24.8 ppg over his last six games and 20.6 ppg for the month. West missed the April 23 game at Dallas after receiving a one-game suspension from the league for making contact with an official the previous night in Houston. West won the Fan's Choice Award at Fan Appreciation Day (April 25), while Thurl Bailey received the club's Community Service Award.

1991-92 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (3-10) November provided many changes for the Timberwolves as they entered their third season in the NBA. With Jimmy Rodgers as Minnesota's new head coach, the Wolves did increase their offensive tempo, if not their field goal percentage. Troubled by a .422 field goal shooting percentage (lowest in the league), Minnesota started November losing nine of their first ten games before winning home games against Houston and Denver, and losing at the buzzer in Dallas on November 30. The Timberwolves began the season just as the season's began changing in Minnesota, as 28.4 inches of snow was dumped upon the Twin Cities Oct. 31-Nov.1, limiting the turnout at the Wolves opening night loss against Utah to 6,973. A change in the starting lineup occurred nine games into the season, as second-year forward Gerald Glass and third-year guard Doug West received the nod, replacing veterans Tony Campbell and Tyrone Corbin, who was subsequently traded on November 25 to Utah for power forward Thurl Bailey. First round draft pick Luc Longley signed a four-year contract on October 19 and became the first-ever Australian to play in the NBA when he went four minutes at Dallas on November 30.

DECEMBER (1-13, 4-23 overall) With a schedule that included eleven games against teams that made the NBA Playoffs last season, the Timberwolves struggled through their worst month in franchise history, with their only win coming at home against the Los Angeles Lakers on December 19. Back-to-back overtime losses at home against Golden State (106-102 on Dec. 27) and at Atlanta (125-122 on Dec. 28) contributed to the Wolves losing fourteen of their last fifteen contests. Injuries to forwards Gerald Glass (back) and Tod Murphy (ankle), and centers Felton Spencer (eye) and Randy Breuer (ankle) severely weakened the Wolves' depth from the bench. Head Coach Jimmy Rodgers' up-tempo style of offense gradually increased scoring. The Wolves finished the month scoring 97.2 points per game and shooting 44.8% from the field, both figures up from November. Tony Campbell continued to lead Minnesota in scoring with a 17.3 points per game average, which included a 36-point outburst in the overtime loss at Atlanta. Defensively, an NBA record for most field goal attempts without a make was broken when the Wolves defense held Golden State guard Tim Hardaway to 0-17 shooting from the field in the Dec. 27 game.

JANUARY (3-13, 7-36) Although January started well for the Minnesota Timberwolves, as they won three of their first six games, the Wolves suffered through a cold spell closing out the month, losing a franchise-high ten straight games heading in to February. Two victories within a week over the Boston Celtics highlighted the Wolves' month. At home against the Celtics on January 4th, in a game which came on the heels of a 92-91 loss to Milwaukee on the 2nd, Wolves' head coach Jimmy Rodgers gained a measure of revenge on his former Celtic team with a 100-96 victory. Six days later at the Boston Garden the Wolves repeated the performance with a 104-94 win, only their second road victory in 21 attempts this seasons. The acrobatic play of guard Doug West averaged 12.5 points per game, earning him a spot in the Gatorade Slam Dunk Championship during the All-Star Weekend. Combined with point guard Pooh Richardson's 15.4 ppg and 8.1 assists per outing, the Wolves backcourt delivered steady play throughout the month. Injuries to Tom Garrick (toe), Tony Campbell (back), and Gerald Glass (back) hampered the Timberwolves efforts.

FEBRUARY (4-9, 11-45) February provided a silver lining in the Timberwolves' cloudy season as Minnesota won four games during the month, their winningest month of the season. Success away from Target Center this season was rare for the Wolves, so wins at Detroit (96-93 on 2/13 with the winning margin coming on a Pooh Richardson three-pointer at the buzzer) and Houston (124-122 OT on 2/17 following a 24-point deficit) were especially gratifying. Individually, Tony Campbell led the Wolves in scoring in eight of the thirteen games (including 35 points at Houston), averaging 20.6 points per game while shooting 53.5% from the field. Meanwhile, Doug West continued to improve, as he scored in double figures in the last 12 games of the month (16.7 ppg) while shooting a sizzling 57.8% in that stretch. Center Felton Spencer remained on the injured list with a sprained ankle he received on February 2, keeping him out of all but one game during the month.

MARCH (1-15, 12-60) Ironically, the last three days of March comprised both the lowpoint of the month for the Minnesota Timberwolves, as well as the highpoint. On March 29 the Timberwolves lost their club-record 16th consecutive game to the Sacramento Kings, at Target Center, 112-86, in the Wolves' worst homecourt loss ever. Two nights later in Denver, Minnesota came back from 15 points down in the fourth quarter to beat the Nuggets 121-114, and snap the Timberwolves' losing streak one short of the longest in the NBA this season (Orlando dropped 17 in a row from Dec. 4 to Jan. 7). Pooh Richardson led the Wolves during the month with an average of 18.0 points per game, while adding a team-high 9.5 assists per contest.

APRIL (3-7, 15-67) Coming off of the worst month in the history of the franchise, which saw the Timberwolves go 1-15 in March, Minnesota opened April with two wins, at Dallas and at home against the Jazz. Combined with a road win at Denver on March 31, this modest three-game winning streak was the longest consecutive wins streak for the Timberwolves since a four-game streak in February of 1990. A seven-game losing streak in the middle of April, which included five losses to playoff-bound teams, was snapped on the final day of the season (4/19) with a home court victory over the Charlotte Hornets, 130-107. Pooh Richardson led the team in scoring in 7 of the 10 games, averaging 20.9 points per game. Richardson's season was capped off by being selected for the second consecutive season as the Fan's Choice Most Valuable Player Award, as well as being named the Offensive Player of the Year as selected by the Twin Cities media. Fellow guard Doug West was named the Defensive Player of the Year, while center Randy Breuer was selected as the Community Service Award winner.

1990-91 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (5-10): The Timberwolves began their sophomore season in the NBA with a 98-85 opening night victory over the Dallas Mavericks on November 2. The game was played in Minnesota's new arena, the Target Center, before a sellout crowd of 19,006. On Nov. 20 the Wolves also defeated Dallas on the road, 92-91 in overtime, as Tyrone Corbin put in a shot with 0.3 seconds left in OT. Minnesota had beaten the Mavs three straight times, dating back to March of 1990. The Timberwolves also recorded convincing Target Center wins over Charlotte, 106-77 on Nov. 9, and Orlando, 108-81 on Nov. 11, finishing the month 3-3 in their new home. Tony Campbell's 20.4 ppg average led the Wolves in scoring during the month, while other leaders were Corbin (7.9 rpg) and Pooh Richardson (142 assists). Minnesota also picked up forward Bob Thornton in a trade with Philadelphia.

DECEMBER (3-9, 8-19 overall): Although the Timberwolves only managed to win three of 12 December games, they closed out 1990 with an offensive bang, snapping a seven-game losing streak with a 126-106 win at the Target Center over Seattle. The 126 points were the most ever scored by Minnesota, and the Timberwolves had won 14 straight games at home when they scored over 100 points. Forward Sam Mitchell was the leading scorer in that win over Seattle with a career-high 26 points. Mitchell also played a key role in an 84-82 win over the Pacers on Dec. 4, sinking a pair of free throws in the final second of the game. Minnesota's five road losses during the month increased its winless streak away from home to eight. Rookie center Felton Spencer and rookie guard Gerald Glass both showed promise during the month. Spencer, who started in all but one game in December, closed the month leading the club in rebounding (7.9 rpg) and blocked shots (36). Glass finished up averaging 9.2 ppg. Forwards Tod Murphy (back spasms) and Bob Thornton (broken wrist) both missed considerable action, so free agent Dan Godfread was signed on Dec. 29.

JANUARY (6-8, 14-27): Loosening the reins on the offensive end, Coach Bill Musselman did away with his playbook in January and introduced an "early offense," and that helped the Timberwolves top the 100-point plateau a club-record eight straight times, as they raised their scoring average from 93.0 to 105.3 ppg. In doing so, Minnesota posted its best monthly mark of the young season, winning six of 14 games. The highlight of the month was a three-game road winning streak (the club's first multiple-game winning skein away from home) with victories over Orlando, Miami and New York. Second-year guard Pooh Richardson paced the Wolves in scoring (22.1 ppg), assists (10.4 apg) and steals (2.86 spg) during the month, while rookie center Felton Spencer was the leader in rebounding (9.5 rpg) and FG shooting (61.8% from the field). January ended with the return of starting forward Tod Murphy, who had been sidelined for 29 games with a back injury. Guard Tony Campbell was forced to miss the final five games of the month with a sprained ankle.

FEBRUARY (4-10, 18-37): The Timberwolves were stuck in a mid-February losing streak, losing eight of nine games, and that played a large part in the team's 10 losses in 14 contests during the month. February did begin on a positive note, as probably the three most exciting games of the season for the Timberwolves were played during that stretch. It started on Feb. 2 with a 113-110 overtime road loss at Cleveland, followed by a 110-102 double-overtime home win over Philadelphia the next night, as Minnesota scored 12 of the game's final 14 points to notch the victory. Finally, on Feb. 5, a Sam Mitchell jumper with 11 seconds left in the game lifted the host Timberwolves to a 94-93 triumph over Utah, the club's first-ever win over the Jazz. Minnesota also continued its success against Dallas, beating the Mavericks for the fifth straight time on Feb. 26, 100-94. Rookie center Felton Spencer reclaimed his starting spot with four double-figure rebounding efforts in the last six games of the month.

MARCH (4-11, 22-48): Although the Timberwolves closed out March on a down note, losing six of their final seven games to finish with 11 losses, there were some significant wins that took place during the month. The biggest win in March for Minnesota came on the 5th, when the Timberwolves downed the LA Lakers 94-85 at the Target Center, picking up their first victory ever over the Lakers. The other notable triumph for Minnesota came on March 15, when they overcame a 20-point second-half deficit to post an exciting 100-96 overtime win over the Sonics at the Seattle Coliseum. As the month came to a close the Timberwolves had beaten 23 of the NBA's 26 other teams — still looking for their first wins against Chicago, Milwaukee and Phoenix. Guard Tony Campbell led Minnesota in scoring in eight of the month's last 10 games, averaging 26.2 ppg over that span.

APRIL (7-5, 29-53): The Timberwolves closed out the 1990-91 season by posting the best monthly record in their two-year existence. By winning six of their final eight games, the Wolves finished the year with 29 victories, seven more than in their inaugural season. They were close to finishing the season with an eight-game winning streak, as the only two losses in that stretch (a 111-110 double-overtime loss at Charlotte and a 102-100 setback at Dallas) were by a combined total of three points. Minnesota's 134-122 victory over Denver at Target Center on April 4 established a new club record for most points in a game. Tony Campbell finished the season strong, averaging 23.3 ppg in April, to pick up Offensive Player of the Year honors. Other post-season awards went to Sam Mitchell (Defensive Player of the Year), Tyrone Corbin (Key Man Award), Pooh Richardson (Fan's Choice Most Valuable Player), and Scott Brooks (Community Service Award).

1989-90 SEASON REVIEW

NOVEMBER (3-12) November featured many firsts for the expansion Timberwolves. Coach Bill Musselman's team made its NBA debut on Nov. 3 at Seattle, a 106-94 loss; played their first home game in the Metrodome on Nov. 8, a 96-84 loss to the Bulls; and registered their first win on Nov. 10, a 125-118 overtime decision against the 76ers. The Wolves averaged 24,828 fans in their first seven home games, putting them on pace to break the expansion attendance record established by Charlotte in 1988-89. In the win over Philadelphia, guard Tony Campbell and forward Tyrone Corbin both hit for career highs in points, with 38 and 36 respectively. Minnesota registered its second win, 101-98 over Golden State, on Nov. 14. Sam Mitchell (25 points) and Scott Roth (22 points) gave the Minnesota offense a lift in that victory. Campbell led the club with a 24.4 ppg average, and scored 31 points to lead the way to a 105-100 win over Miami on Nov. 29.

DECEMBER (3-11, 6-23 overall) The month of December opened on a high note for the Timberwolves with a 27-point victory at Cleveland and a home court win over New Jersey. But just as quickly, the team's fortunes took a turn in the opposite direction. Minnesota dropped a club-record nine consecutive games, including two heartbreaking overtime losses to division front runners Indiana and the Lakers. The streak ended when the Wolves turned in one of their finest performances of the season in beating Houston, 108-91. Through 29 games, the Timberwolves allowed their opponents to score 100 or more points just 16 times and had a defensive average of 101.5 points allowed per game, which ranked fifth in the NBA. The Wolves' NBA leading home attendance average of 24,024 in 15 games kept the franchise on pace to break the expansion attendance record of 23,172 per game set a year earlier by Charlotte. Tony Campbell was Minnesota's leading scorer, averaging 23.3 ppg. Rookie Sam Mitchell was second on the club in scoring with 17.3 ppg average. Forward Tyrone Corbin paced the Wolves in rebounding averaging 7.1 per contest.

JANUARY (3-10, 9-33) The Timberwolves' record for the month was not entirely indicative of the way that Bill Musselman's club played. Minnesota was very competitive, losing four games by two points or less, and six by 10 points or less. January did end on a high note as the Timberwolves won back-to-back games at the Metrodome, downing Sacramento 109-91 and Seattle, 110-82. Guard Tony Campbell continued his consistent play for the Wolves, leading the club in scoring 10 out of 13 games and averaging a team-high 23.6 ppg. Another positive story in the backcourt was the emergence of rookie Pooh Richardson, who moved into the starting line-up against the Kings and scored 20 points and dished out 10 assists to lead the Wolves to victory. Two nights later, during the win over Seattle, Richardson picked up a career-high 12 assists. Tyrone Corbin and Sam Mitchell were the Wolves' main forces off the boards, averaging 6.8 and 6.5 per game, respectively.

FEBRUARY (6-7, 15-40) The expansion Timberwolves turned in their finest month of the season by posting a mark only one game under .500. The highlight of the month was a stirring 116-105 victory over the Celtics on February 2, a game played before a franchise-record 35,713 fans at the Metrodome and televised nationally on TNT. The Wolves put together a club-record winning streak of four games, with home wins over Charlotte, Indiana, Atlanta and Houston. The Wolves' seven losses were by an average of 7.6 points, including a heartbreaking 110-104 overtime road loss at Utah and a last-second 95-93 defeat at New Jersey. Guard Tony Campbell continued his impressive play, averaging 23.2 points, 3.2 assists and 6.4 rebounds in 13 February games.

MARCH (5-12, 20-52) Heading into the final three weeks of the regular season, the Timberwolves sported the most wins among the four expansion teams. One of Minnesota's big moments in March came on the 17th when the Wolves played before 43,606 fans at the Metrodome in a thrilling 101-98 loss to the Lakers. That represented the top crowd of the season in the NBA to date and was the eighth-largest of all-time. The Timberwolves also registered a pair of road victories during the month, a 110-105 win at Portland on March 25, which snapped the club's 22-game road losing streak, and 84-82 over the Mavericks. Guard Tony Campbell, who scored in double figures in each of the Wolves' first 72 games, averaged 23.1 ppg during the month to lead the team. Also chipping in were forward Tyrone Corbin, with 15.8 ppg and 7.8 rpg, and rookie Pooh Richardson with 17.0 ppg and 8.0 apg.

APRIL (2-8, 22-60) The Timberwolves began the final month of their first year with one of their biggest wins of the season, a 92-90 upset of the eventual Midwest Division champion Spurs at San Antonio. Tony Campbell led the upset with 27 points. Later in the month, Minnesota won its 22nd game of the season as they downed Orlando, 117-102, before 45,458 fans at the Metrodome. After going 2-8 in April, Minnesota ended the season with a 22-60 mark, the best record among the NBA's four newest teams. The Wolves averaged 45,141 fans per game in their final three home contests to wrap up the NBA attendance title and become the league's all-time single-season attendance leaders with a total of 1,072,572. Minnesota ended the season second in the NBA in team defense, allowing just 99.4 points per game. Tony Campbell was named the team's Most Valuable Player, with Tod Murphy earning Defensive Player of the Year honors.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs, the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record regardless of division. The first round is best-of-5 and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-7.

In every series the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First-Round are Team 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Team 1-8 plays the winner of Team 4-5 and the winner of Team 2-7 plays the winner of Team 3-6.

The Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-7 series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June of 1983 in a vote by the NBA Board of Governors effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowance for 16 teams qualifying for the playoffs and the elimination of the first round bye (formerly known as the best-of-3 mini-series) for division and inclusion of the First Round best-of-5 series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

GENERAL

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Minnesota Timberwolves' organization strongly believes they can have a positive impact on the Twin Cities area and feel that they have an obligation to become an important asset to the communities they represent. The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to the community and sponsor charitable activities in the Twin Cities area, as well as the Upper Midwest region. The Manager of the Timberwolves Community Relations Department is Bill McMoore.

For more information about Timberwolves Community Relations Programs, please call 673-1634.

HOSPITAL VISITS

The Timberwolves make a concerted effort to visit the patients at some local children's hospitals on both a team and individual basis. During the holiday season, the Timberwolvesteam, front office staff, and Nestle' Crunch, sponsor the annual Children's Hospital Tour.

TIX FOR KIDS

Season ticket holders donate unused tickets back to the Timberwolves, who in turn, distribute them to youth charities and organizations. This enables children who would not otherwise have the opportunity, a chance to attend a Timberwolves' game. In the first three seasons, over 20,000 tickets were donated in the Tix For Kids program.

COAT DRIVE

Working with Sharing and Caring Hands, a facility for the poor and homeless, the Timberwolves will designate one home game to collect coats for those in need. The Twin Cities are noted for its cold winters, and the Timberwolves want to help everyone have a warm holiday season.

TARGET COMMUNITY SECTION

This section consists of a block of 50 seats that the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation purchases for every home game to distribute to worthy youth groups and organizations throughout Minnesota.

BUCKS FOR BUCKETS

The Timberwolves will designate a game when fans can pledge a sum of money for each point the team scores. Working with the Salvation Army, the Timberwolves will accept pledges of any amount.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

The Timberwolves provide members of the front office staff, players and coaches as speakers for various functions, community groups and charitable organizations.

INTERN PROGRAM

An internship designed for college students with Sports Management as a major emphasis was implemented during the 1990-91 season. Sincethat time three former students have completed the intern requirements and are employed in Sports Management positions or in allied fields of endeavor. This program will be in effect during the 1993-94 season.

NBA STAY IN SCHOOL PROGRAM

With the NBA All-Star Weekend coming to Minnesota February 11-13, the Minnesota Timberwolves, the NBA, and the Minnesota Department of Education are pleased to introduce the league's top public service initiative, the Stay in School Program, to the public middle level and junior high schools of Anoka, Carver, Dakota, Hennepin, Ramsey, Scott, and Washington counties. This year's program will encompass 53 middle schools in the seven county area.

MINNESOTA TIMBERWOLVES FOUNDATION

Working in conjunction with Community Relations is the Minnesota Timberwolves Foundation, a 501 (c)(3) public charity. The foundation's programs support charitable projects which positively impact youth in such areas as family, education, drug awareness, health, race relations, and employment. Since the inception of the foundation in 1989, proceeds raised through the foundation have passed the $1,000,000 mark.

The Timberwolves have made a major commitment to youth. In the upcoming years, the organization as a whole will continue to concentrate its efforts on providing opportunities for youth. The Foundation and Community Relations departments will develop programs and work with existing organizations to ensure that young people in our community have every possible chance to make good, sound decisions which will positively affect their lives.

For more information, contact Kristy Pierce, Executive Director of the Timberwolves Foundation, at 673-1633.

MAKE-A-WISH

Over the past three years, the Timberwolves have become increasingly more involved with Make-A-Wish. In addition to granting wishes for terminally ill patients to visit their favorite NBA player, several Timberwolves have acted as celebrity co-chairs for Make-A-Wish events.

MINNESOTA SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The Minnesota Timberwolves have been and will continue to be supporters of the Minnesota Special Olympics. Proceeds from the Timberwolves Hoop Festival 3-on-3 basketball tournament, held in downtown Minneapolis, has generated over $75,000 which went directly to Minnesota Special Olympics.

COURAGE CENTER

The Courage Center promotes independence, self-esteem, and dignity for people with physical or sensory disabilities. The Timberwolves are supporting and outfitting the men's and women's "A" basketball team, "The Rolling Timberwolves."

PROJECT REBOUND

This program is aimed at 7th and 8th grade students in five inner-city schools in both St. Paul and Minneapolis who have been identified as at-risk. The curriculum has been developed specifically for this program and includes self-esteem building, study skills, mentoring, and motivation, as well as all of the other necessary components needed to ensure that these at-risk young people have every possible opportunity to succeed, not only in school, but in life. In addition to the financial and developmental commitment, the Timberwolves' players are involved extensively in the program.

BOYS IN THE HOOD JUNIOR BASKETBALL LEAGUE

This league's goal is to redirect young men, ages 15 to 22, involved with negative activity and provide positive alternatives. Due to the tremendous success of this program, Hennepin County Employment Intervention Program stepped in to fund the summer league and provide employment for the participants. In addition to the employment program an educational and dental health component were also added.

PRO-AM LEAGUES

Consists of three different leagues; The Pro-Am League, the "Play it Smart" Prep Leagues, and the Late Night League. The Leagues have been expanded to accommodate as many youths as possible and to provide positive alternative activities during the summer months. All Leagues emphasize the importance of staying in school and leading a life free of drugs. The league will provide volunteer coaches, speakers and strong role models for the high school participants.

NBA'S PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAMS

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On a national level, the NBA is involved in numerous public service initiatives.

Since 1989, the NBA and the National Basketball Players Association have worked to draw attention to this country's alarming drop-out statistics through the national NBA Stay in School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the Stay in School program uses the popularity and visibility of NBA players and coaches to encourage young people to develop self-esteem, set goals, and dedicate themselves to learning.

Through public service announcements on TV and radio and other awareness-building projects, the NBA and its players also support the work of the Special Olympics, CARE, the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Operation Prom/Graduation, a program that urges high school students to celebrate an alcohol-free prom and graduation season. The NBA also produces and airs PSAs saluting the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and celebrating Black History Month each February. During the 1991-92 season, the wives of NBA players and coaches developed a national program to highlight the importance of breast cancer screening for women.

COVERING THE TIMBERWOLVES

KEVIN HARLAN Play-By-Play Announcer

Perhaps the most telling statement that Timberwolves play-by-play announcer Kevin Harlan's talents have become nationally recognized was delivered on March 14 when legendary broadcaster Marv Albert was caught in the Winter Storm that rampaged the East Coast and Harlan was called in by NBC-TV to provide play-by-play for the nationally televised Bulls-Pistons game. Having generated a loyal following as the voice of the Timberwolves, Harlan returns for his fifth season with Minnesota as a national commodity.

In addition to providing radio play-by-play for the Wolves, Harlan, 33, will also call the action for all 25 televised games to be shown throughout the region. Harlan has been on a fast track toward success since graduating from the University of Kansas in 1982. At the age of 22, he landed his first job as the radio and television voice of the Kansas City Kings, a job he held for two years before the team moved to Sacramento. The versatile Harlan is entering his ninth season as the voice of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and will also be calling the play for ESPN on the collegiate football level this fall. He has extensive experience in this area, as he has done play-by-play for both football and basketball at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri.

Along with his ESPN duties, Harlan has also done play-by-play on NFL national telecasts for NBC Sports. In addition, he has covered the NBA's Conference Finals for the PIA radio network.

Born in Milwaukee, Harlan is the son of Green Bay Packers President Bob Harlan. His brother, Bryan, is the Public Relations Director for the Chicago Bears.

Harlan and his wife, Ann, reside in Westwood Hills, Kan., with their three daughters, Abigail, Haley and Olivia.

TOM HANNEMAN Broadcast Studio Anchor

One of the most familiar voices in Minnesota's broadcasting history, Tom Hanneman begins his fifth season as studio anchor on the Timberwolves Radio Network and the Timberwolves Television Network.

Returning as host of some of the more popular features which air during the pregame and halftime of radio broadcasts, including "Basketball Basics", "NBA Scoops and Scores", "Halftime Hotline", and "The Miller Lite NBA Update", Hanneman's talents are also receiving nationwide exposure. Selected as the studio host for NBA Radio's Game of the Week, as well as NBA Radio's Playoff coverage, Hanneman enters his third year with the national network, reporting courtside with insights into the game, the players, and the fans.

Hanneman was not unfamiliar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves' broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. Along with his NBA Radio visibility, Hanneman has also made an impression on the national scene with his coverage of the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo for CBS-TV, as well as his ESPN work with marathoner Frank Shorter covering the men's and women's U.S. Olympic team trials at the Twin Cities Marathon in 1987. His personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

Born in La Crosse, Wis., Tom makes his home in Eden Prairie, Minn., along with his wife, Nancy, and their children, Adam, Kyle and Courtney.

CHAD HARTMAN Play-By-Play Announcer

Another feather was added to Chad Hartman's cap this past season when he began broadcasting play-by-play for the 25 Timberwolves games shown on the Prime Sports Network. Hartman, who also fills in on the radio broadcasts when regular play-by-play announcer Kevin Harlan moves to the television broadcasts, delivers a succinct and well-informed narrative to the action on the floor.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1988, spent two seasons announcing play-by-play in the Continental Basketball Association, one year each with the LaCrosse Catbirds and the Rochester Flyers. He also has spent one season as the play-by-play voice of the Minnesota Twins Class AA baseball club, the Orlando Twins. Along with Twin Cities Star-Tribune columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts Sportsline, a popular afternoon drive-time call-in show on KFAN 1130 AM, which is the flagship station for Timberwolves' and Minnesota Vikings' radio broadcasts. Hartman also serves as studio host of the Vikings Radio Network.

Hartman, 28, and his wife Kathleen reside in Plymouth.

KEVIN McHALE Television Analyst

After a long, illustrious career with the Boston Celtics, Kevin McHale returns to his native Minnesota to work with the Timberwolves' broadcast team. McHale, 35, will handle game analysis for 25 televised games while working with play-by-play man Kevin Harlan and broadcast studio anchor Tom Hanneman on the Timberwolves Television Network.

Besides working on the broadcast team, McHale will serve as a special assistant working exclusively with the Timberwolves front court players.

McHale played for Boston for 13 years before announcing his retirement this past spring. He helped lead the Celtics to three World Championships, five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. McHale was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale first made a name for himself by leading Hibbing to the 1976 Minnesota Class AA State Tournament title game. He went on to star at the University of Minnesota where he earned First Team All-Big Ten honors in 1980.

McHale and his wife Lynn, along with their four children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph and Alexandra reside in North Oaks, Minn.

NBA RADIO

The National Basketball Association became the first professional sports league to produce its own "in-house" national radio package with the debut of NBA RADIO on Feb. 9, 1992 and the broadcast of the 42nd annual NBA All-Star Game from Orlando, Florida.

Each NBA RADIO broadcast is produced, cleared, promoted and sold by the NBA. NBA RADIO is heard in 64 cities, including 24 NBA markets. It can be heard locally in the Twin Cities on AM 1130 KFAN Sports Radio.

In addition to the All-Star Game, NBA RADIO broadcast 13 regular season games after the All-Star Game last season, along with Sunday games through the first two rounds of the NBA Playoffs, and each game of the Eastern and Western Conference Finals and the 1993 NBA Finals. NBA RADIO ended the season with the broadcast of the 1993 NBA Lottery in New York City and the 1993 NBA Draft in Detroit.

The voices of NBA RADIO are Joe McConnell (play-by-play), Bob Lanier (color analyst) and Tom

CORPORATE PARTNERS

A major reflection of the corporate philosophy of the Timberwolves' franchise and Target Center is found in their approach to their corporate partner programs. It is consistent with the approach taken by a number of industry leaders in many of its aspects, in others it is more aggressive than that of any other sports entertainment facility or team. The approach utilizes programs which are inclusive and integrate all the elements which the team and Target Center can offer to promote the products and services of its corporate partners. From television, radio, signage, publications and client entertainment to retail promotions, trade incentives and participation in the charitable/community service projects, corporate partner programs provide an unusually integrated and impactful association. There is a relatively small number of corporations involved in these programs, founded on the principle that relationships should have a positive impact on the corporate partners bottom line.
